

Ashton Marr

WLFC Scholarship Winner

Ashton Marr is a rising 2L at The Ohio State University's Moritz College of Law. She is also a survivor of domestic violence and a person in long-term recovery from addiction (with almost eight solid years in recovery). Ashton has a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from Eastern Michigan University and graduated sum cum laude. Additionally, Ashton has served as Program Manager for the Washtenaw Recovery Advocacy Project, a grassroots advocacy organization that advocates for people with substance use disorders on local, state, and federal levels. Before that, Ashton was an outreach worker with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Office, where she helped connect people with addiction to life-saving community resources.
